

Wow! It really is a great pumpkin (Salina Journal)

Contributed by Webmaster
Friday, 31 October 2008
Last Updated Friday, 31 October 2008

More info...

The act of gardening can take on many forms. Many gardeners are dealing with much bigger issues than you and I. Scattered across the country, there are a few thousand "extreme gardeners" who methodically plod through the art and science of competing to grow the world's largest pumpkin each year.

Friends describe John Whitmore of Wausau as a lover of gardening, giving to others (Wausau Daily Herald)
Lori Whitmore grew up with a father who needed a huge backyard -- and some rented land -- to accommodate all the flowers and vegetables he grew.

Gardening